DESPERATE MEASURE

Mum makes herself homeless to buy her disabled daughter a place to live

A DESPERATE mother will soon be homeless after selling her house to enable her disabled daughter to live independently

Following a fruitless two-year search for adapted accommodation, Annette Courtney (56) felt she had no other option than to sell her home in Moorfield, Harlow, to help her 20-year-old daughter Rachel, who suffers with cerebral palsy and high functioning autism, buy an adapted flat and live independently.

With nowhere else lined up to live once the sale of her home is finalised, Annette says she will stay on friend's floors to highlight the "ridiculousness" of the situation.

"Rachel is a bright young adult who has just spent the last two years at a specialist residents' college," she said. "During her time there she has received around £160,000 worth of education to prepare her for living alone and has done tremendously well.

"However, after two unsuccessful years of trying to find adapted accommodation, social services now just expect her, along with the thousands of other young disabled adults in similar circumstances, to return home to be cared for.

"It is ridiculous and begs to question what

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

the point of the course was."

The mother-of-two is now urging people to sign the online petition she has set up at www.rachelslaw.co.uk calling for legislation to ensure adapted accommodation is available for young disabled people so they have the same choices as everyone else.

"Like anyone her age, Rachel doesn't want to live with her parents all her life but she is unable to rent private accommodation because few landlords are willing to provide the adaptations for a disabled person," said Annette.

"It seems people in her position are just expected to live with their parents until they die, at which point they are moved to a care home. It is grossly unfair and I passionately believe a law needs to be put in place to give disabled young adults equal rights to housing."

She added: "The biggest fear of any parent of a disabled child is what will happen to them once they are gone."

"Rachel is currently equipped with the skills to support herself but not the equipment. It seems extreme but I felt sacrificing our family home is a small price to pay to ensure my daughter's long-term future."

A spokesperson from Harlow Council said it sympathised with the Courtneys' situation and would always be willing to provide assistance to help them look at housing options.

"The council does from time to time have council properties available which have already been adapted and these are only advertised and allocated to applicants that require an adapted property," he added.

"We are aware that there is a limited number of private sector adapted properties and so offers grants to people to have adaptations carried out on council, privately rented or owner occupied homes."

ANGRY: Annette Courtney, left, has sold her house and made herself homeless so she can buy her disabled daughter Rachel, right, somewhere to live

Scouts sell bricks to replace fire-hit hut

By ELEANOR PATMORE
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GROUP of Scouts in Harlow is calling on town residents to help them lay the foundation for the future of their troop.

Members of the 7th Harlow Scouts have started a 'Buy a Brick' campaign to raise some of the £150,000 need to build a new headquarters after their hut was destroyed by fire in December.

The blaze, which was started deliberately, left the troop of more than 60 youngsters aged six to 14 without a permanent meeting place.

The single-storey building, which was home to the Scouts, Cubs and Beavers for more than 30 years, was completely gutted in the blaze. The flames also destroyed the group's camping and activity equipment as well as a new £3,000 yurt.

The 'Buy a Brick' initiative is one of a series of fundraisers to help meet the cost of a replacing the burned-out shell in Manor Hatch Close with a larger purpose-built facility.

Companies or individuals can buy a brick for £5. Those who buy 10 or more will be named on a plaque inside the new building.

Group spokesperson Harry Tennison said they had also approached

FIRE WRECKS SCOUTS' HUT

SCORCHED WRECKAGE: Above, the remains of the Scout hut after the fire. Left, flashback to the Star's report of the arson attack

BBC renovation show DIY SOS with a request to help them fit out the interior.

Since the fire, each section has been meeting in temporary accommodation around the town. But the troop is hoping the local community will get behind the Buy a Brick campaign so that they can be reunited under one roof.

"Through my own years of Scouting I have had many wonderful experiences and we hope to be able to give these to the 60 young people who are part of the group," said Harry.

"The Buy a Brick campaign is just one of our many ideas to raise funds and is definitely something individuals or groups of people can help with."

Other money-spinning activities planned for the coming months include a clothing collection in June, a race night at Harlow Greyhound Stadium and a quiz night.

Earlier this month, leaders Peter Craft, Nigel Dalby and Arnold Worton raised £1,500 when they abseiled 110ft down the Church Langley water tower.

Train firm relaxes ticket restrictions

A REVISED structure for some day return tickets to give rail passengers in the Star patch more flexibility and choice when travelling into London is being introduced by train operator Greater Anglia.

From Sunday, the existing evening peak restriction on the off-peak day return is being removed. These tickets will be valid on trains timed to arrive at Liverpool Street from 10am onwards, but return travel will be unrestricted so passengers can travel back on any train.

The cheaper Super Off Peak day return, which will be about 10-15 per cent cheaper than the current fare, is to be extended to weekdays and will be available Monday to Friday on trains arriving from noon onwards. However, they will not be valid for return travel on services running between 3.59pm and 7.01pm.

The changes apply to passengers travelling on the Greater Anglia network for the West Anglia route stations from Cambridge to London, which includes Harlow Mill, Harlow Town and Roydon.

Greece is the word at fun night fundraiser

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PLATE smashing and belly dancing were the highlights of a Greek night organised by a Harlow mum to raise money for orphaned children in Greece.

During a recent visit to her husband's family in Athens, Emily Konstantas was appalled to see the widespread poverty caused as a result of the country's current financial crisis.

According to mother-of-two Emily, of Sheering Road, queues in their hundreds form outside monasteries every day as starving people attempt to find something to eat.

"The country is in a really shocking state right now, something I don't think many people realise as they see Greece as a stable western country," she said.

"However, people are literally starving and every day families are having to queue for hours just to be able to get something to eat.

"The orphanages are also in an awful state and full to capacity as parents are being forced to give up their children because they cannot afford to look after them. It is utterly heartbreaking to see so many people so desperate."

Determined to do something to help, Emily enlisted the help of members of St Mary at Latton Church, where she worships, to raise funds for the Smile of the Child Foundation – a charity supporting 15 orphanages and one oncology centre in Greece – by holding a Greek night.

"We hosted a spectacular evening of traditional Greek food, live music, plate-smashing and belly dancing and it was a total success," she said. "We have already raised more than £2,500 and are now looking for more people to hold their own Greek night."

"It is a different, extremely fun event with little hassle as we set everything up. And obviously it is also helping an amazing cause."

Emily is also appealing for donations of items such as clothes, toiletries and DIY materials which will be shipped out to Greece over the summer.

"With the help of Rev Lyn Hurry we have been collecting items at the church and already have a good amount," she said. "However, we want to collect much more and are offering a pick-up service."

"We are hoping some local companies might even donate things like furniture and bathroom facilities to go into these run-down orphanages."

Emily added: "The most important thing is to raise awareness of how bad things are over there. There's a belief that the country got itself into this state because of corruption and so forth but the people suffering had nothing to do with that. I really hope people are touched enough to help."

To offer your help, make a donation or enquire about holding a Greek night, call Emily on 07793 199427.

Hotel staff switch to pedal power

STAFF at a Harlow hotel are taking part in a sponsored cycle ride.

The seven-strong team from the Park Inn at Southern Way are joining colleagues from 31 other hotels in the Radisson chain to cover a stretch of the 1,300-mile route from Aberdeen to Southend-on-Sea.

The Harlow team of Kieron Golding, George Hobin, Vince Scales, Natalie Pennells, Darren Smith, George Devonshire and Matt Whitehall, who are due to set off today (Thursday), are donating the money they raise to St Clare Hospice.

"We are really excited to be taking part in such a worthwhile event," said revenue manager and responsible business co-ordinator Mr Hobin. "It is going to be a long journey as none of our team are professional cyclists, but we are looking forward to the challenge! "Of course we also hope to raise some vital funds for St. Clare's

Hospice. We have set ourselves a target of £1,000 and have been doing lots of sponsorship requests and fundraising over the last few weeks." To support the Harlow team, visit www.justgiving.com/teams/harlow or call (01279) 829988.

Commons leader praises Foodbank

THE work of a Harlow food charity has been praised by the Leader of the House of Commons.

Sir George Young applauded the work of Harlow Foodbank after its achievements were highlighted in Parliament by town MP Robert Halfon.

Mr Halfon, who has worked on a number of occasions with the group, said it made a real difference to the lives of people in Harlow by providing a lifeline to those who are going through a period of difficulty or crisis in their lives.

Harlow Foodbank recently announced it had collected more than 23 tonnes of food to feed over 5,000 people since its launch three years ago. It is appealing to any locally-based companies able to support its work by providing warehouse space to get in touch.

Helping to break the death taboo

LOCAL health chiefs are encouraging people to think and talk about death as part of Dying Matters Awareness Week.

NHS West Essex is teaming up with local partner organisations to put on information events in the town.

"Death is still a taboo subject which is why we are encouraging people to talk about their wishes towards the end of their lives," explained NHS West Essex team assistant Karen Weatherill.

"This includes where they want to die and their funeral plans. Our aim is to make a 'good death' the norm."

St Clare Hospice will run an information stand in the Harvey Centre today (Thursday) while a second one will be located at the Asda supermarket in the Water Gardens on Monday.

Funeral directors Daniel Robinson & Sons will be holding an open day at its premises in Wych Elm on Saturday, June 16 from 9am-1pm.

Hospice May fair

ST Clare Hospice is holding its annual May fair on Saturday with attractions including a circus workshop and reflexology sessions. It takes place at the hospice in Hastingwood Road from 11am-4pm. Admission is £1 for adults and 50p for children.

Having fun is just a walk in the dark

MANY of the 800-plus people who have already signed up for the St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk will be taking part in memory of friends and relatives.

Among them is Sarah Day, pictured right, who has taken part in the Star-backed fundraiser once before. "This year I'm completing the Midnight Walk with a very good friend, Laura Clark, who also wants to help support the hospice," she said.

"My mum passed away at the hospice seven years ago after a long battle with cancer. She was only 49 and we only found out two weeks before she died that her cancer was terminal.

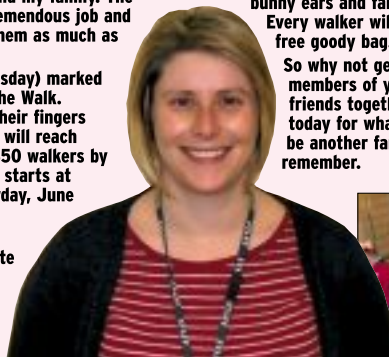

"Unfortunately, she only spent her last two days in the hospice but I'm so pleased she went there. The staff were fantastic and there is a lovely, calming atmosphere which made the difficult time so much easier. As a family we felt so much happier with the care at the hospice.

"I'll never forget how the hospice staff made the last two days so much more bearable for me and my family. The hospice does a tremendous job and I try to support them as much as I can."

Yesterday (Wednesday) marked one month until the Walk. Organisers have their fingers crossed that they will reach their target of 1,350 walkers by the time the walk starts at 10.30pm on Saturday, June 16.

Those taking part follow a 10km route around Harlow, starting and finishing at the Water Gardens car park.

Before the start there will be on-stage music and games from Heart FM, a pre-walk warm-up to get you in the mood, face painters and the chance to buy a pair of eye-catching flashing bunny ears and fairy wings.

Every walker will also receive a free goody bag.

So why not get a few members of your family or friends together and sign up today for what promises to be another fantastic night to remember.

4 weeks to go

Shoe retailer set for shops centre

By ELEANOR PATMORE
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE ongoing upgrade of the Harvey Centre will continue with the arrival later this year of an international footwear chain.

German firm Deichmann Shoes is the first in a series of new leases to be announced since centre owners Addington Capital completed the centre's refurbishment and revealed its plans to build a multi-screen cinema and food court within the mall.

The footwear specialist will occupy two newly configured units with a floor-space totalling 6,000 sq.ft. opposite Primark on a 10-year lease.

Founded in Germany's Ruhr district in 1913 by cobbler Heinrich Deichmann and his wife Julie, the family-run business now has 3,000 outlets in 21 countries and employs about 30,000 people.

Its nearest stores to Harlow are at Chelmsford and Ilford.

Fashion retailer Blue Inc, which already has premises in the centre, has also confirmed it will be relocating to the adjoining 3,500 sq.ft. corner unit.

The men's clothing store has been trading in the Harvey Centre for several years on a temporary basis but has announced its long-term commitment to the town by also agreeing a decade-long lease.

Work began on the units last week in preparation for them being handed over for shop fitting in the autumn.

Alex Wagstaff, a partner at Addington Capital, said: "We are delighted that these retailers have committed to new leases at the Harvey Centre.

FUTURE VISION: An artist's impression of how the new cinema could look

"The arrival of Deichmann Shoes to the town and Blue Inc's relocation to a larger unit demonstrates retailers' confidence in the centre and builds on the investment by the owner and other retailers Primark, Tesco and Wilkinson's, who invested in newly-fitted out stores last year."

Last month the company, which took control of the Harvey Centre in April last year, unveiled its ambitious £8m regeneration scheme to transform part of the mall into a multi-screen cinema complex and food court.

According to the draft proposals, a 25,000 sq.ft. area incorporating the former JJB Sports store on the first floor, a neighbouring unit of equivalent size and an overhead storage area have been earmarked for the eight-screen cinema, while up to six expanded first floor units have been allocated for new eateries and coffee shops.

A planning application is expected to be submitted to Harlow Council in the very near future.

The plans follow a recent £1m revamp of the centre's interior.

Hospital staff get a kick out of fundraising

STAFF from Princess Alexandra Hospital will be doing battle on the pitch at Harlow Town FC's Barrows Farm Stadium on Saturday during a charity event to raise funds for the cancer and diagnostics departments.

The fun starts at 1pm and includes two matches, a bouncy castle, face painting, bungee run, live music and a performance by children from the Makin' Steps dance school.

Refreshments will also be available.

Man punched in face by thieves

A HOUSEHOLDER was injured when four men forced their way into his home in Harlow Common at 6pm on Saturday.

The 58-year-old victim was punched in the face before stumbling backwards and striking his head on a wall.

The intruders stole two mobile phones before fleeing in a silver Audi A3.

Charity workers to offer advice on alcohol abuse

GP surgeries in Harlow are supporting an alcohol abuse awareness campaign being run by a local charity next week.

The West Essex Alcohol and Drugs Service (ADAS) is holding its Alcohol in the Community initiative from Monday to Friday to give people the chance to discuss their concerns, whether for themselves or a family member.

A dedicated ADAS worker will be available at each surgery to offer advice and guidance. Those signed up for the free drop-in service include Old Harlow Health Centre, The Ross Practice, Addison House Surgery and Lister Medical Centre.

ADAS, which is based at The Stow, offers intensive help to patients with moderate to severe alcohol misuse through community-based support services.

It aims to support GPs in addressing the increasing number of alcohol-related admissions to hospital and is run by a dedicated team of experienced community alcohol workers who help people systematically cut down on their drinking or remain alcohol-free following detox.

Community alcohol worker Lucy Nuttall said: "Patients are assessed by a counsellor who offers support, guidance and encouragement to a mutually agreed target over three months. This includes general support sessions, motivational interviewing/discussion, cognitive behavioural techniques or short-term counselling."

For more information, call Lucy on 07807 266210, Zygi Izycki on 07805 048420 or the ADAS office on (01279) 641347.

The real reason why Don formed The Mitchellaires

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE missing piece in the puzzle of The Mitchellaires – the popular 1950s group who played regular slots at the Key Glass Sports and Social Club The Key Hole – can now be fitted into place.

It came in the form of a telephone call to the Nostalgia desk from final group member and the man responsible for founding and naming the group – piano player Don Mitchell.

"I live in Norfolk now but still have family in Harlow," he explained. "They saw the Nostalgia pieces in the Star and saved me some copies.

"I must say it came as some surprise to see myself suddenly featured in the paper but it brought back a lot of good memories!"

Don, who first moved to Broadfield, Harlow, as a 23-year-old newly-wed after securing an engineering job at Key Glass, said he had taught himself the piano as a young boy and still dabbles on the instrument today.

PIANO MAN: Don Mitchell, circled, playing with his band The Mitchellaires

He decided to form The Mitchellaires group to help take his mind off other things.

"I was losing my hair at the time, you see," he explained. "My wife told me I needed to do something to take my mind off it so I approached some colleagues at work and together we formed the band."

Now a grandfather to two and great-grandfather to one, Don said he had a lot of good memories from the musical scene in and around Harlow.

"There were a lot of good musicians back then," he said. "Everyone would meet together at various venues and just play for the love of the music."

"No-one earned much money at the time so it was a cheap night's entertainment for all. That's how it was back then, we all stuck together."

Jubilee plea

RESIDENTS at a sheltered housing complex in Harlow are requesting the help of long-term Potter Street residents with memories of the Queen's Coronation street party of 1953.

The group from Anchor's Wrights Court are hoping to create a collage of photos and memories to display in their foyer as part of their own jubilee celebrations this year.

They would also like to invite their neighbours to a celebration afternoon tea party on June 2. For more information, or to offer your assistance, call 0845 140 2020.

WERE you, your mother or even your grandmother a member of the Harlow Housewives Club?

The photograph, which was sent in by Bert Morton, of Harefield, featured in a May 1956 edition of the Harlow Citizen. It was included in the 'Around the Town' section and states the group regularly met in Glebelands Common Room.

"I don't know anyone in the picture but thought it was a good shot for Nostalgia," said Bert. "I wonder where everyone is now?"

👉 The Well Women Clinic's search for a home of its own in Harlow is over after it was offered a medical suite at the Latton Bush Centre. The group has also received a £6,000 grant from the council's equal opportunities committee to fund its work conducting breast and cervical cancer screening.

👉 Police are hunting a flasher who exposed himself twice to schoolgirls on a cycle track during Monday lunchtime. The man first exposed himself to two pupils near Tendring Road shortly after 2pm before moving on to Nettleswell where he targeted two 13-year-olds.

👉 Harlow Council chiefs have been left red-faced after they seemingly broke their own anti-apartheid policy. The incident occurred when a spokesperson for the local authority confirmed they were supporting a swimming scheme sponsored by South African company Outspan. However, officials later did a U-turn, saying they were unaware of the company's controversial political links at the time.

👉 A talking cockatiel has devastated his owners after he made a bid for freedom over the weekend. Joey, who can say phrases like "pretty Joey" and "clever boy" made his escape while his owner opened the door to pick up the milk. Apparently Joey went to sit on his shoulder but missed and ended up outside.

Bag yourself a grant for community celebrations

GRANTS of up to £250 are now available for organisations and residents planning community events to celebrate the Queen's jubilee, the Olympics or Harlow's 65th anniversary.

Harlow Council is offering the money to groups of residents and voluntary organisations who want to mark the occasions.

The money can be used to cover the cost of the purchase of equipment and/or materials, administrative costs such as paper, postage, ink cartridges or IT equipment, event activities, entertainment and music.

The council has set up a £20,000 jubilee and 65th birthday fund. It is also contributing to the Heart for Harlow Party in the Park event which will take place in Harlow Town Park on Monday, June 4 from 4-8pm during which a beacon will be lit to mark the Queen's jubilee.

It also has 60 "party in the bag kits" to give away to residents organising their own celebrations. Each bag contains 16 Union Jack plates, 16 Union Jack cups, 16 Union Jack napkins, a red paper table cover, Union Jack bunting, 20 balloons in red, white and blue and curling ribbon.

The council will be holding a free draw to allocate the kits. Residents can enter by emailing their name and the details of their planned celebrations to harlows65@harlow.gov.uk by Monday (May 21).

Lynn Seward, the council's head of community and customer services, said: "This year the town is 65, it's the Queen's diamond jubilee and the Olympic Games take place in London. These are three huge occasions and we are doing what we can to make sure 2012 is a year of celebration for Harlow.

"Times are tight so we want to help groups and organisations celebrate by providing a one-off small grant."

A copy of the full criteria and an application form for a grant, which can be submitted online, can be found at www.harlow.gov.uk/news/campaigns/street_parties-1.aspx. The deadline for applications is October 31 and events must be held before the end of the year.

Hundreds back action to halt illegal tobacco sales

HUNDREDS of people in Harlow have pledged their support to a crackdown on sale of illegal tobacco.

Organisers of the campaign mounted by Essex County Council, the NHS and Trading Standards said they were delighted with the response they received when the team took their message to shoppers in Broad Walk earlier this month.

Graham Seward, a NHS

public health specialist for tobacco control in North Essex, said: "The campaign received a fantastic response from the people of Harlow."

"With the number of local organisations now involved and more and more people, businesses and retailers pledging their support every day, we hope the drive to keep illegal tobacco out of Harlow will continue to grow."

New unit to treat dialysis patients

PATIENTS needing kidney dialysis services will soon be able to receive their treatment in Harlow.

A new unit is to be located in the town after the East and North Herts NHS Trust – which currently runs satellite dialysis units in Luton and St Albans as well as services at the Lister Hospital in Stevenage – was awarded contracts for two new units, one in Harlow and the other in Bedford.

The contracts were agreed following a three-month consultation process by the Midlands and East Specialised Commissioning Group during which views were sought from patients, clinicians and the public.

It is expected the new service will be up and running by January of next year.

The news has been welcomed by Harlow

By ELEANOR PATMORE
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MP Robert Halfon, who said: "This is great news for kidney dialysis patients in the town who need to make regular journeys for their treatment. To have services on their doorstep will be of great benefit to them and their families."

"It proves the Government is investing in Harlow's health services on top of the extra £24m that has already been allocated to our town."

The bid by the East and North Herts NHS Trust was put forward by its renal dialysis team working closely with specialist private sector partner Diaverum UK.

Trust chief executive Nick Carver said:

"For some time the clinical quality of our renal dialysis service has enjoyed an enviable national and international reputation, which helps to explain why they were chosen to develop this new unit in Harlow."

"It is also a tribute to how our clinical and non-clinical teams worked alongside each other in putting together a winning bid that ticked all the boxes for the commissioning group."

Consultant Roger Greenwood said: "We are delighted that, after such a long wait, people in West Essex will now have access to local kidney dialysis units."

"We have 20 years of experience running similar NHS centres and are confident in providing excellent standards of care for renal dialysis patients."

Burglars strike twice in same street

POLICE are appealing for information about two burglaries on the same night in Carters Mead, Harlow.

The properties were broken into between 10pm last Wednesday and 7.30am the following morning. Among the items stolen were an Evotv television and an HP laptop computer with the 'M' and 'N' keys missing.

Anyone who say any unusual activity or vehicles in the Carters Mead area around the times of the break-ins should contact DC Liz Young at Harlow police station on 101.

Town's favourite works of art are a mini marvel

MINIATURE versions of some of Harlow's most popular sculptures feature in a new work of art spotlighting the town's cultural heritage.

Six sculptures – Family Group, Donkey, Solo Flight, Energise, Pisces and Boar – have been recreated in miniature form by local artist Amanda Westbury and encased in a giant glass bead.

It will be on display in the Civic Centre and various other locations around the town ahead of the Sparks Will Fly arts event in Market Square on Sunday, May 27. This will take place from 11am-6pm to showcase the town's artistic, cultural and sporting talent and includes a procession around the town centre, workshops and taster sessions, live music, dance and performances.

The sculpture will also be taken to an arts festival at Hylands Park in Chelmsford on July 6 and then on a tour of Essex before returning to the town.

Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett, who is pictured above with Amanda, said: "The town has a fascinating and unique public sculpture collection which we are extremely proud of. It's what makes Harlow different from other towns."

Having fun around the maypole

BUSY BEES NURSERY Youngsters had a spring in their step as they welcomed in the new season with traditional maypole dancing.

Despite the rain outside, the mood was bright as youngsters at the Greenway nursery crafted their own flower headdresses and learned all about the background of the May Day holiday celebration.

They then took it in turns to perform dance routines around their self-decorated maypole holding different coloured ribbons.

"All the children absolutely loved taking part in the dancing and managed not to get too tangled up," said manager Louise Christie.

"They also did a fantastic job with making their headdresses and all had a lovely day. It is certainly something we'll do again next year."

Exciting times as new primary era dawns

SPINNEY JUNIORS

Pupils and staff at the Cook's Spinney school are preparing for a new era of combined nursery and junior education.

New headteacher Lella Yates said she was delighted to have been given the opportunity to lead the new primary school, which will officially open in September.

"I was put at Spinney Juniors to help get the school out of special measures and was meant to be moving on to another school," she explained.

"However, I felt that my heart belonged here so I applied for the new headship and was delighted to get the post." Ms Yates said everyone was feeling extremely positive about the new school set-up.

"Our aim is to build on the progress the school has made already and develop a school the whole community can be proud of," she said. "It is a very exciting time for us all."

Uni trips inspire pupils' ambitions

BURNT MILL: Students have been knuckling down to achieve high grades after being inspired by a series of trips to universities.

Pupils from the First Avenue school visited Hertford College in Oxford, the University of Essex and Leeds University as part of the school ethos to encourage every student to achieve their dreams.

"Lots of students think getting B and C grades is good enough to get to college, but we want them to think beyond that and about what they may require for these top-flight universities," said Toby Hall, advanced skills teacher in humanities.

"We are trying to change the whole mind-set of our students. We want them to realise there are more options out there and it is not just those children from private schools who get to go to these top-flight universities"

He added: "These trips have inspired plenty of thought among the group."

Pupils champion cause of cultural diversity

(s)

STEWARDS: The importance of cultural diversity was on the agenda when students gave a speech at a special teachers' conference.

Thirteen pupils, all members of the Parnall Road school's Ethnic Minority Pupil Voice group, were invited to the conference at Wickford to speak about their own personal experiences.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said: "I was so very proud of our pupils who were able to take on such a challenging task and achieve something which would daunt most adults.

"All the participants at the conference went away hugely impressed with the confidence, articulacy and passion which the children displayed in voicing their pride in the work of their school to promote cultural diversity over many years."

SIR, I keep reading the claims by Harlow's Conservative councillors that they have been the victims of the public's disillusionment with the coalition Government. They seem to be blaming their defeat in the local elections on this alone.

I have a very different perspective as to why they may have suffered so many lost seats and it comes from my own experiences of asking councillors for help.

Having been involved in a road safety campaign for the past four years, I have made many attempts to contact various Conservative councillors, requesting their support in resolving the issue of speeding traffic on Commons Road.

Children, parents, governors and the headteacher of Latton Green Primary School have repeatedly asked for traffic calming on the only stretch of the road where there are no speed humps. This area is where many of our children have to cross the road to reach their school. Unfortunately, some motorists ignore the 30mph speed limit. Numerous speed tests carried out by police confirm that some cars are reaching speeds of 50mph.

However, the telephone messages and many emails which I have sent to my local councillors over the years have been largely ignored. The only way I obtained any responses was by contacting MP Robert Halfon, who always manages to respond fully. I had to forward all my correspondence though to Mr Halfon and even then, if these councillors replied, the emails I received were short and dismissive and did not answer my questions. At times they supplied incorrect or misleading information.

Latton Green governors have presented many possible solutions to improve the safety of pedestrians along this road. Vehicle activated signs were finally installed last year to remind motorists of the speed limit, but I attribute this to the hard work of Labour councillor John Strachan, who has been a great support to us. However, he has faced the same brick wall that we have.

We eventually discovered our traffic calming ideas have all been rejected on the basis of either "budget" or "logistics". Furthermore, my requests for clarification regarding these logistical problems and the willingness of Latton Green governors to work with councillors to find a suitable solution have been completely ignored.

We were told an evaluation would have to be carried out by Essex County Council before they would consider any plans for traffic calming. We have been waiting since last July for this to take place and have been given no update or information in the meantime.

Councillors hold privileged positions and should listen to the views of residents and actively try to resolve these issues. Any councillor who forgets this and ignores residents' concerns because they are so wrapped up in their own self importance does not deserve a seat on Harlow Council. Maybe Harlow Conservatives should take a long look at themselves and stop blaming others.

Tories' record makes a mockery of 'mess' jibe

SIR, Readers will have noticed the irony between last week's Star front page ("Labour win back council control") and page three ("Council shortlisted for trio of local government awards"). This makes a mockery of Labour leader Mark Wilkinson's remark about "clearing up the mess left by the outgoing Tory administration".

When Conservatives took control in 2008 – a year before the new Coalition Government found "there is no money left" – we were faced with a bankrupt council and services in disarray. So perhaps it is worth reminding Cllr Wilkinson of just some of our achievements of the past four years:

- Recycling doubled saving £millions in landfill tax.
- Carbon emissions cut by 10 per cent, saving £millions in energy cost.
- A balanced budget three years running without Labour's normal mid-term emergency budgets during their years of reckless spending.
- Restoring and increasing the council's reserve fund depleted by Labour
- Topping up the pension fund shortfall partly caused by Labour's over-generous 'additional years' policy.

Conservatives are wrong to blame apathy for poll defeat

Do you have a photograph taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

Email a high resolution copy in jpeg format – along with a brief description of your photograph along with when and where it was taken and your name and address – to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

- Securing Enterprise Zone status for Harlow
 - Working in partnership with nearby (Conservative) councils to improve efficiency and save costs.
 - Cutting £millions from council expenditure to plug the black hole left by Labour locally and nationally, while keeping our valued services.
 - Securing £millions from Essex County Council to improve our crumbling roads and footpaths after years of Labour's neglect.
 - Highest percentage of council rent collected, lowest tenant arrears, lowest vacant council houses and lowest turnaround time, and the lowest number of evictions
 - Revision of Kier Harlow contract saving £4.4m while improving services to housing and the environment
 - Twice secured the Essex Federation of Small Business award for Most Business Friendly Council
- I could go on but I must point to Susan Praeter's letter about Parndon Wood cemetery. The contract with Westerleigh Group has been widely praised and will see £millions more invested.

When we investigated Labour's running of this facility it was, like the old swimming pool and The Playhouse, nothing short of scandalous. Yet still Labour bitterly opposed us, with Cllr Jean Clark repeating the phrase 'privatising death'. Likewise, Cllr Wilkinson's assertion that they have a mess to sort out is like so much of what his party says, very far from the truth. Some mess!

Missing polling cards and a lack of information

SIR, I would like to raise a concern regarding the recent local elections in the Little Parndon & Hare Street Ward.

I have lived in the Little Grove Field area for the past 40 years but neither myself or my spouse received ballot cards. I have checked with our neighbours and they didn't receive any either.

We went to the local church hall where we have always voted in previous elections and could see no sign of the polling station. Looking in the Star, the only information I could find was regarding the polling station for the Toddbrook area which reported that it would be moved to the Civic Centre.

I found this all very bemusing and I am not surprised to find Labour have been voted back in on the back of such a low turnout of voters. It begs me to ask the following questions:

Did any residents in other wards experience the same issue? Was it a set up? Why did I not receive my ballot card? Why was there not clearer information supplied?

School jubilee activities may be against the law

SIR, With the Queen's diamond jubilee 'celebrations' approaching, some schools may be putting on events or activities that are in breach of the Education Act 1996. Sections 406 and 407 of the act prohibit "the promotion of partisan political views in the teaching of any subject in the school" and confer on schools a duty to secure that where political issues are brought to the attention of pupils "they are offered a balanced presentation of opposing views."

In an unsettling way, many people fail to realise that the monarchy is a controversial issue. Around a quarter of the public think we would be better off without the monarchy and treat it as though the institution is axiomatically right. Ultimately, whether intentional or not, children are being indoctrinated into supporting an outdated, undemocratic and unjust institution.

I would encourage any concerned parents or guardians worried that their child's rights are being compromised by jubilee-orientated activities at school to approach their child's teacher or head of year informally. As many schools do not consider the jubilee or monarchy to be a controversial issue, it could be the first time they've really thought about it and may be very receptive to their concerns. If the outcome is not satisfactory then it is advisable that they make an appointment to see the headteacher. If, after this, the concerns are not being taken seriously then the issue should be taken up formally with the school's governing body.

Republic, the campaign for a democratic alternative to the monarchy, can provide assistance throughout the whole process and, if necessary, put parents and guardians in touch with legal advisers.

Activities session at museum was a delight

SIR, Like some of your recent correspondents I was worried about the future of the museum service which I have used for many years with a wide variety of educational groups as well as grandchildren.

However, I was very impressed with the activity session run in the museum garden last Sunday and I understand regular events are to be held there.

I do hope local families will give these a go; the delight on children's faces is definitely worth the modest cost.

Who will stop the jobs?

SIR, The headline on the front page of the Star stated "Yobs will not win" (May 3). One may well ask who's going to stop them?

A recent article lamenting the incidents of arson and vandalism in Harlow made no mention of the police. I find that incredible; it's as though they are not even considered in the equation.

What's the point of good folk rebuilding premises destroyed by arsonists if they are only to be destroyed again?

Campaign sows the seeds of success

A SUPPORT group for parents of children with autism has raised hundreds of pounds by selling 'unusual' organic vegetable seeds. Since launching their awareness campaign to coincide with World Autism Day on April 2, members of Parents of Autistic Children Together (PACT) Harlow have sold more than £700 worth of seeds. It is the second year the group has sold seeds, which this year included rainbow coloured chard and purple and red French beans, to illustrate that being different is a good thing. Group chairman Sam Fancett said: "The generosity and support within our community for the work that we do have been overwhelming. "Our special thanks go to the students of both Burnt Mill Academy and Milwards Primary School who helped us produce the packets of seeds and Pitney Bowes who kindly assisted with the promotional packaging. "We are wholly committed to ensuring that our amazing children have the support and chances in life that any other child would want from society." Among those who supported the campaign was Harlow MP Robert Halfon. He is pictured with, left to right, Rowen Saunders, Shona Johnson and Sam Fancett selling packets of seeds to shoppers at the Sainsbury's store in Fifth Avenue.

Tweet rant defendant avoids jail

AN IT worker who insulted a councillor on Twitter and invited people to put excrement through his letter box has avoided a jail sentence.

John Graham Kerlen (37) made the comments last October in a series of rants about Bexley Council in south London.

He posted a picture of the councillor's home and followed it with a second tweet "naming him and encouraging people to put excrement through his letter box or anything else people would consider appropriate", prosecutor Denise Johnson told Bromley Magistrates' Court.

Last month Kerlen, who has since moved to Milwards, Harlow, was convicted of improper use of a public electronic communications. He returned to court last Wednesday when he was sentenced to 80 hours of unpaid work over 12 months.

He was also ordered to pay £620 in prosecution costs and was told a restraining order preventing him from having any contact with the councillor would remain in place for five years.

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The court heard police originally investigated Kerlen in March last year after he made a number of derogatory comments about the local authority on a website. The councillors involved decided they did not want to lodge a formal complaint as they did not want their names published and as a result Kerlen was only issued with a formal harassment warning.

However, when he made his remarks on Twitter seven months later the councillor referred the matter to police.

Rupert Hallows, representing Kerlen, said he had no previous criminal convictions, had no malicious intentions and blamed the incident on an "epic misjudgment".

Speaking outside court Kerlen said he planned to appeal against his conviction, adding: "I've stopped blogging and tweeting about Bexley Council but I'm definitely not going to stop blogging and tweeting altogether."

Have you an hour to help save lives?

By ELEANOR PATMORE

WHEN mum-of-one Sharon Stephens crosses the finish line at Sunday's Race for Life in Harlow, her sense of accomplishment will be tinged with sadness as she remembers the woman who inspired her to take part.

She will be among hundreds of others who all have their own deeply personal reasons for walking, jogging or running either the 5km or 10km course around Harlow Town Park in aid of Cancer Research UK.

For Sharon it will be the eighth time she has taken part in memory of her mother, Anneliese Montague.

And she admits that when she celebrates her achievement with husband Paul (38), and their toddler son Monty (2), the moment will be bittersweet.

"It's always quite emotional," she said. "I always burst into tears when I see my husband and little boy at the end because I wish my mum was there to see me."

Sharon, of Springhall Road,

SHARON STEPHENS

Sawbridgeworth, lost her mother to cancer of the bile duct on March 8, 2000. She was 63.

"It's quite a rare cancer and it wasn't diagnosed until it was too late," she explained. "She found out over Christmas and I steamed open her discharge letter because I knew there was something she wasn't telling me. "They only gave her six weeks to

THERE'S still time to make a last-minute dash to enter Sunday's Cancer Research Race for Life in Harlow.

More than 1,650 women have already signed up for the challenge. And with organisers hoping to raise almost £200,000 from this year's event, which is again supported by the Star, they say there is still room for more.

Event manager Claire

Marmion said: "We are absolutely thrilled that so many women have entered Race for Life in Harlow. Together, they will help us create a fantastic atmosphere on the day and raise crucial funds to help beat cancer."

"But we don't want anyone to miss out. We still have places left but we are reminding women who want to take part at this venue that they must enter as soon as possible before registration closes."

Women of all ages, abilities, shapes and sizes can take part in the non-competitive event and can choose to walk, run or jog either a 5k or 10k course. The cost is £14.99 for adults and £10 for girls under 16

To register, visit www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 6411111.

live but she lasted for 12, so she really fought it."

Sharon ran her first Race for Life the year after her mother's death. On Sunday she will be taking part with her niece, Karen Montague (26) from Hatfield.

She said: "I don't usually stick to things. I start diets and exercise regimes and then give them up but this is the one thing I actually keep doing regularly."

"I think Mum would be really proud and also a bit embarrassed that I'm doing this for her. She always did things for other people and didn't like a fuss made about her. She was always going the extra mile for people."

Sharon, who runs Musical Minis sessions for pre-schoolers, added: "We all live such busy lives and sometimes we think 'it's a nice idea but I haven't got time to do it or to train or collect the sponsorship'."

"My motivation is that I don't want others to suffer seeing someone they care about so much die or be ill through any type of cancer. If we can't commit an hour to a really great cause then there's something wrong with the world."

Trio live on £1 a day to highlight plight of the poor

THREE members of the Harlow-based Stort Valley Results UK group did their bit to highlight the plight of the 1.4bn people living in extreme poverty by surviving on just £1 a day for a week.

Gill Price, Peter Lemer and Anne Neuhaus – pictured above with Harlow MP Robert Halfon – spent five days on the ultra strict budget as part of the Live Below the Line campaign.

Gill said: "Living on just £1 a day for five days for all food and drink isn't your ordinary charity campaign. It gives you a unique insight into the challenge faced by over a billion people across the world every day."

"I'm so proud to have completed this challenge and I hope to inspire others to join me. I want to make some positive change in the world and the Live Below the Line initiative is an excellent way to do that."

On Friday they invited Mr Halfon to have tea with them.

"Even with the Budget deficit and the difficult economy, we still have a duty to the rest of the world," he said. "Aid is not only ethical, but combating poverty save lives and helps bring stability to the poorest regions of the world."

The money the trio has raised in sponsorship will be donated to Results UK to fund its work to get disabled children in the developing world into education.

Here comes the summer

WE may not have seen much sign of it yet but summer is on its way. And with it will come the hope of long warm days and balmy nights, encouraging us all to get outside and make the most of the season.

However, for one in five of us the hot weather brings the misery of itchy, watery eyes and stuffy noses. Hayfever keeps us trapped indoors and gives us sleepless nights.

Around 95 per cent of hayfever sufferers are allergic to grass pollen, but tree and weed pollen can also cause symptoms.

The time of year at which sufferers begin to experience hay fever symptoms depends on the types of pollen they're allergic to. Trees release their pollen in March to early May while grasses release pollen from late May to early August. Weeds and certain shrubs release their pollen in late summer.

The hayfever season can, therefore, last from March to October. And if you're unlucky enough to be allergic to

Simple ways to help reduce the symptoms of hayfever

Keep windows shut at night and first thing in the morning

Stay indoors when the pollen count is high (between 50-150)

Wear wraparound sunglasses

Put some petroleum jelly just inside your nostrils to trap some of the pollen

Don't mow the grass or sit in fields or large areas of grass

Wash your hands and face regularly

Avoid exposure to other allergens such as pet fur or environmental irritants such as insect sprays or tobacco smoke more than one type of pollen, you may only have just two or three months without symptoms before the cycle starts again.

Avoiding exposure to pollen is the best way to reduce the allergic symptoms of hayfever. A range of over-the-counter products can treat the symptoms, including tablets, nasal sprays, eye drops and creams. However, pregnant women are advised not to take some hayfever medicines and asthma sufferers should visit their GP for advice and a review of their asthma medication which may need to be increased during the hay fever season.

FOR many, the biggest irritant of hot summer days is the arrival of unwanted guests at the barbecue.

Wasps and bees can prove to be an irritant, but their stings are unpleasant and knowing how to treat it and how to recognise when it needs medical attention will help you do the right thing if you are stung.

Insects such as wasps and bees sting as a defence mechanism by injecting poisonous venom into the skin. If you have been stung by an insect and there is a sting left in your skin, remove it as soon as possible.

Do this by scraping it off using a hard blunt surface like the edge of a credit card. Don't try to pinch the sting out

Ways to treat insect stings

Wash the area with soap and water

Put a cold flannel on the area

Raise the part of the body that has been stung to prevent swelling.

Use a spray or cream containing local anaesthetic or antihistamine on the affected area to help prevent itching and swelling

Take painkillers such as paracetamol if the sting is very painful

Don't scratch the area as it may become infected.

Ask your GP for advice if any redness or itching is still there after 48 hours using your fingers or tweezers as this risks spreading the venom.

For most, stings are painful but harmless. But some people can have an immediate allergic reaction which can be very dangerous. Seek emergency medical treatment if, immediately after being stung, you experience any of the following symptoms: swelling or itching anywhere else on your body, wheezing, headache, nausea, fast heart rate, dizziness, feeling faint, difficulty swallowing, swollen face or mouth.

WIN Tickets for a Posh night out in West End

FOLLOWING the recent success of Jerusalem and Clybourne Park, the Royal Court returns to the West End with the shrewdly perceptive and razor sharp new play, Posh.

In an oak-panelled room in Oxford, ten young bloods with cut-glass vowels and deep pockets are meeting, intent on restoring their right to rule. Members of an elite student dining society, the boys are bunkering down for a wild night of debauchery, decadence and bloody good wine.

But this isn't just a jolly: they're planning a revolution!

For the chance to win a pair of tickets, simply answer the question on the competition coupon and return it to Posh Competition, Harlow Star, PO Box 268, Cambridge, CB24 6HF by Wednesday, May 23.

Photos a snapshot of fields under threat

By ELEANOR PATMORE
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

AN exhibition of photographs of the swathe of countryside under threat from housing is to go on display at Old Harlow library.

The images taken by local children will go on show to draw attention to what could be lost if developers win their appeal to build 1,200 new homes on 62 hectares of land north of Gilden Way.

Hundreds of letters of objection have already been sent to the Planning Inspectorate ahead of a public inquiry which is due to start on July 3.

A development consortium of Persimmon, Taylor Wimpey and Barratt has taken its case to appeal after Harlow Council failed to determine the planning application – originally submitted in February last year – within the statutory 16-week period.

Paul McLintic, who is opposed to the development, said: "Among their ways of protesting at this woeful proposal, 600 Old Harlow residents wrote to the Planning Inspectorate. Letters of objection were collected at Old Harlow library for photocopying and submitting in triplicate, as required by the inspector.

"To mark the appeal hearing, a series of displays of photographs of the fields that would be lost will be displayed at the library. The photographs and displays are by children of a family living in Priory Avenue and bring to life the adverse impact that the development would have on the community and what the loss of amenity would mean to families.

"There are five displays and each is accompanied by a commentary. These have been written by the children themselves."

Mr McLintic added: "The displays will be changed each week in the five weeks leading up to the appeal hearing. Showing the photographs is a way of giving feedback to residents who wrote to the inspector."

A COLLAGE inspired by the joy of cycling has been presented to Harlow bike centre Hub and Spoke.

The artwork was created by residents at St Elizabeth's, the specialist school and residential centre for people with epilepsy and other neurological conditions in Perry Green, near Much Hadham.

The collage will be displayed in the workshop and education area of the community-led cycling initiative at Bush Fair, which provides a wide range of learning opportunities to increase awareness and skills of cycling.

St Elizabeth's lead instructor Eileen O'Dowd said: "Our clients worked hard over several weeks to produce the original piece of artwork using a variety of techniques and materials."

"Learners from St Elizabeth's college have participated in work experience with Hub and Spoke, children from the school have used their services for bicycle repairs, and clients from the home worked together at the day centre to produce the artwork."

Artwork celebrates the joys of cycling

Vets turn detectives to trace owner of stray cat

THEY are more accustomed to arresting cat burglars, but officers were faced with a different sort of feline when a stray cat was detained at Harlow police station.

The black moggie was placed in the custody of local vets JAC Kew and Partners after she was spotted in the car park on Tuesday morning.

Staff there have now turned detective to try to reunite the runaway with her owners as she is not microchipped and did not have an identity tag on her sparkly gold collar.

Head nurse Nicola Gunter said: "It highlights the importance of microchipping as if she had one we would have been able to contact her owners straight away."

They're three fine Fellows

THE medical director of St Clare Hospice has been elected to the Fellowship of the Royal College of General Practitioners.

Dr John Zeppetella has been with the Hastingwood-based hospice since 2003 and works closely with other local GPs to support patients with life-limiting illnesses. He is already a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians.

Also elected as Fellows were Old Harlow based GPs Dr Richard Anthony and Dr Krish Radhakrishnan, who are both supporters of St Clare.

Dinosaurs caused winds of change

GIANT dinosaurs roaming the Earth 150 million years ago may have warmed up the planet by breaking wind, according to new research.

British scientists claim that super-sized sauropods like the Brontosaurus would have produced around 520 million tonnes of methane every year - enough to make the Earth's climate some 10 degrees Celsius hotter than it is today.

Researchers from universities in Liverpool, Glasgow and London came to their conclusion after studying the amount of gas produced by cows. They used their findings to then calculate how much methane would be produced if their study subjects were the same size as the herbivorous dinosaurs.

"Although it's the dinosaur element that captures the popular imagination with this work, it is the microbes living in the dinosaurs guts that are making the methane," one of the researchers told reporters.

Methane is known as a 'greenhouse gas' because it absorbs infrared radiation from the sun, trapping it in the Earth's atmosphere and causing temperatures to rise.

Previous studies have suggested that the planet was up to 10C warmer during the Mesozoic Era - and now we might know why!

Four go head-to-head in Bennett monologues

HUMANITY is put under the microscope at Harlow Playhouse next week when Global Productions stages a bold new stage adaptation of Alan Bennett's evergreen Talking Heads series.

Opening on Thursday for a three-night run, the award-winning theatre group will present four of the best-loved pieces – A Cream Cracker Under The Settee, Bed Among The Lentils, A Chip In The Sugar and Her Big Chance – in the intimate surroundings of the Studio theatre.

Originally produced for television in the late 1980s, the acclaimed collection of tragicomic monologues showcases the celebrated British playwright's trademark wit while deftly exploring the capriciousness of the human spirit.

In Bed Among The Lentils, a vicar's wife driven to despair by her husband's doting parishioners discovers a semblance of happiness after beginning an affair with an Indian shopkeeper, while A Chip In The Sugar sees the life of a mentally unstable bachelor turned upside down when his beloved mum is reunited with an old flame. A Cream Cracker Under The Settee tells the story of a lonely widow who realises that her constant nagging may have been responsible for her late husband's untimely death, and Her Big

By CHRIS MOSS

Chance follows a desperate aspiring actress as she deliberates whether to take a role in a soft-porn film.

Michael Phillips, who will direct A Chip In The Sugar and Bed Among The Lentils, said the group's latest production would be a real challenge for the four actors involved.

"We've got minimal set and props so the real challenge will be for each individual actor to hold the audience's attention throughout their monologue," he said.

"Rehearsals have gone extremely well and I'm confident our talented bunch of Global stalwarts can pull it off without too much difficulty."

He added: "The series was very popular when it was first televised back in the 1980s and I'm sure there will be those in the audience who remember some of the pieces."

"Hopefully we can do this brilliant collection justice."

● The show opens on Thursday (May 24) and runs until Saturday, May 26. Performances begin at 7.30pm and tickets costing £15.50 (£13.50 concessions) are available from the Playhouse box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Showcase for town's talented performers

THE organisers of a new talent contest aimed exclusively at Harlow residents are on the lookout for local acts wanting to take their first steps towards showbiz success.

Singers, dancers, actors, magicians, musicians and more are being sought to audition for Harlow's Got Talent, which will be staged at Victoria Hall Theatre later this summer to help raise money for the refurbishment of the building.

Organiser Tony Saxby, from the Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association, said: "We know that there are some incredibly talented acts in the town desperate for a chance to perform live.

"The talent contest format is always popular with audiences so we thought it would be a great way of showcasing some of Harlow's hidden talent while raising much-needed funds for the venue."

The deadline for applications for the open auditions, which will be held at the theatre on Bury Road, Old Harlow on July 27 and 28, is May 31.

Those wanting to perform need to email the name and description of their act to Vhpa.org@gmail.com or call (01279) 420062 and leave contact details.

Bad taste rules in the world of Baron Cohen

THE DICTATOR certificate 15, 1h24m

SACHA Baron Cohen atones for the sins of the woeful Bruno with this gleefully bad taste comedy which kicks sand in the eye of political correctness.

No subject is off limits – the September 11 attacks, rape, sexual equality, Judaism – as the film tramples merrily over social taboos, hitting more targets than it misses as the titular despot runs amok in the capitalist playground of New York City.

Baron Cohen is once again at the centre of the madness, this time relying on a script rather than inspired improvisation with the unsuspecting public.

He plays Admiral General Aladeen, tyrannical ruler of the African state of Wadiya, who is hiding the real Bin Laden in one of his opulent palace's spare rooms.

During a visit to "the Devil's nest" of America to address the United Nations about his nuclear arsenal, Aladeen is usurped by his duplicitous brother Tamir (Sir Ben Kingsley) and cast adrift on the street, without his trademark beard or any form of identification.

Zoey (Anna Paris), the tomboyish manager of a vegan feminist non-profit co-operative, takes pity on Aladeen, accepting him as an immigrant called Allison Burgers.

Sparks of romance are continually extinguished by Aladeen's bigotry. And when Zoey eventually discovers the truth about his identity, she is horrified.

The Dictator delights and disturbs, careening from razor sharp satire to a Monty Python-esque birthing scene shot through the dilating cervix of the expectant mother (Kathryn Hahn).

It's hard to resist a wry smile when Baron Cohen's abominable protagonist makes a speech to American dignitaries and exposes the Land Of The Free as a dictatorship in all but name.

And a flash of full frontal male nudity takes us by hysterical surprise and Megan Fox and Edward Norton embrace brief cameos as themselves.

If you judge the film solely on the number of belly laughs it packs into 83 minutes and ignore the occasional lulls, it's a rousing success.

Some gags are so jaw-droppingly offensive you can feel the oxygen being sucked out of the cinema. Faint hearts beware.

AVENGERS ASSEMBLE (3D & 2D) When a dangerous new enemy threatens the safety of mankind, Nick Fury (Samuel L Jackson) – director of the international peacekeeping agency S.H.I.E.L.D – scours the globe in search of the ultimate team of superheroes. Aided by fellow agent Maria Hill (Cobie Smulders), Fury recruits Iron Man (Robert Downey Jr), The Incredible Hulk (Mark Ruffalo), Thor (Chris Hemsworth), Captain America (Chris Evans), Hawkeye (Jeremy Renner) and Black Widow (Scarlett Johansson) to save the day. At first, it proves difficult to get these strong personalities to meld, especially with Thor's evil brother Loki (Tom Hiddleston) causing mischief. But evil must be vanquished and the heroes come together in humanity's hour of greatest need.

DARK SHADOWS In the mid-18th century, Barnabas Collins (Johnny Depp) spurns the advances of servant Angelique (Eva Green) and falls in love with Josette DuPres (Bella Heathcote). In revenge, Angelique kills Josette and transforms Barnabas into a hideous vampire and buries him alive. Almost 200 years later, construction workers unearth his cast-iron coffin and the fanged fiend is unleashed in swinging 1972 Maine. While Barnabas acclimates to the groovy customs of the era, he seeks sanctuary at his ancestral home with the latest branch of the family tree headed by Elizabeth (Michelle Pfeiffer). To restore the family's fortunes, Barnabas must risk the wrath of Angelique once again.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST 3D More than 20 years after Beauty And The Beast became the first animated feature to contest the Oscar for Best Picture, Disney's "tale as old as time" returns in a new 3D print. Spirited Belle (voiced by Paige O'Hara) swaps places with her inventor father (Rex Everhart) as prisoner of the accursed Beast (Robby Benson) and falls for her hirsute host. Musclebound rival suitor Gaston (Richard White) leads the torch-wielding villagers against the Beast but the rabble meets its match in the enchanted servants led by tightly wound pendulum clock Cogsworth (David Ogden Stiers) and flirtatious candlestick Lumiere (Jerry Orbach).

AMERICAN PIE: THE REUNION Jim Levenstein (Jason Biggs) and his wife Michelle (Alyson Hannigan) head back to East Great Falls to attend their 13-year high school reunion in the company of Oz (Chris Klein), who is now a minor television star, house husband Kevin (Thomas Ian Nicholas) and eternal wanderer Finch (Eddie Kaye Thomas). Meanwhile, Stifler (Seann William Scott) is up to his puerile tricks. The arrival of Heather (Mena Suvari) and her cardiologist beau (Jay Harrington) piques Oz's jealousy and Kevin is nervous to see old flame Vicky (Tara Reid) again. Elsewhere, Finch is drawn to Michelle's band camp friend Selena (Dania Ramirez).

EAST meets West and kicks butt in a dazzling collaboration between Welsh-born writer-director Gareth Evans and Indonesia's most daring fight choreographers and stunt performers.

Hollywood has nothing on this blitzkrieg of severed appendages and broken bones which threatens to overdose even the greediest adrenaline junkie on blood-spurting, visceral thrills.

Rookie cop Rama (Iko Uwais) is part of an ill-prepared SWAT team charged with infiltrating a 15-storey apartment block which doubles as the headquarters of notorious drug lord Tama (Ray Sahatapy) and his sadistic henchmen Andi (Doni Alamsyah) and Mad Dog (Yayan Ruhian).

Led by Lieutenant Wahyu (Pierre Gruno) and Sergeant Jaka (Joe Taslim), the cops have one simple objective: fight their way to the top floor and destroy Tama's criminal network.

But gaining access to the building, the good guys quickly realise they have stumbled into a trap.

Evans hangs his outrageous, death-defying action on a gossamer-thin plot, orchestrating brawls at breakneck speed.

The violence is relentless and graphic with no respite from the hack and slash. Once you are on board this runaway train of slaughter, there is no getting off until the blood-drenched finale.

Should I Withdraw my Property following an Offer?

We are often asked by our clients whether they should withdraw their property from the market once an acceptable offer has been made. There are a number of angles on this subject which should be considered in the context of each specific set of circumstances.

Firstly, from an ethical perspective, it could be argued that once you have agreed to sell to someone, you have given them your word, and leaving the property on the market could be regarded as a suggestion that you would renege if a 'better' buyer came along. This can encourage gazumping (where a higher offer is accepted over the original one).

Some vendors would not have a problem with this. However, in practical terms it is often the case that once the original buyer falls away in favour of the new, higher, buyer, the new buyer feels the pressure is off, and they regret having offered more than the market price. Their offer is subsequently reduced (gazundering). This practice often serves to frustrate the vendor and even risk the sale. The first offer is usually the best offer.

However, there is no point in taking your property off the market if your buyer is not in a strong buying position or has a linked transaction. This latter situation reduces the saleability of your home to the saleability of any linked properties, over which you have no control.

So our advice is generally only to remove your property from the market, perhaps for a fixed period of time (say two weeks to keep the pressure on the buyer to perform) when you have confirmation from the buyer's solicitor that they have no linked sale, have their mortgage in principle and deposit available.

Toyota's fun-loving coupe

By Andy Enright

Toyota GT 86 prices from £28,000 (estimated)

IN recent years it's been hard to construct a sentence where the word 'fun' sits comfortably with Toyota.

The GT 86 (known as the FT-86 during its far from secret development) changes all that. Bland and reliable doesn't sell to young, fun-seeking drivers, but Toyota is confident that the smart, rev-loving, rear-drive coupe it's made in collaboration with Subaru most certainly will.

Background

The formula is simply classic: snarly, high-revving four-cylinder engine in the nose, rear wheel drive, 2+2 seating, a swoopy body, a stubby gearlever and a cosy cabin with low-slung sports seats – more or less a throwback, quite intentionally, to the Corolla GT Coupe of 1984.

Subaru's version, the BRZ, is mechanically identical but looks a little different, and there'll even be a third version for the American market called the Scion FR-S which will look subtly altered again.

Common to all the versions, however, is a 197bhp flat four engine that uses a Subaru block and Toyota-designed cylinder heads that's been designed to spin to 7,000rpm and direct its output to the road via a six-speed manual gearbox. So it's old school with a modern execution.

Best of all is the estimated price of around £28,000 which will certainly give fwd rivals like the VW Scirocco R something to think about.

Driving Experience

Weighing just 1,180 kilos, you might expect the GT 86 to make rather more of its 197bhp than the estimated headline performance stats of 143mph and 0-62mph in 7.0s suggest. And when the magazines get the opportunity to install their test gear, it might do just that.

But the lean kerb weight will play just as big a role in the way the car handles and rides. And, in this respect, all the ingredients look especially promising: quick steering (2.5 turns lock to lock), a limited slip differential and, perhaps most importantly of all, ESP that can be fully turned off.

The emphasis here is on keenness of response, agility and the ability to adjust the cornering attitude as much with the throttle as the helm. And 17-inch versions of the low rolling resistance tyres that can also be found on the Toyota Prius should ensure that outright grip never overwhelms the desire to play the angles should the driver so wish. Back-to-basics fun was always at the heart of the brief for this car. The driving environment should certainly help get you in the mood with its low-slung bucket seats and driver-centric control layout, not to mention the drilled pedals and footrest.

Disappointments? Early feedback from Japan hints at a short-throw gearchange that's a tad notchy and a six-speed auto option that, while smooth, lacks the snappy alacrity of the best double-clutchers. But that's about it.

Design and Build

It's always a risky business trying to deliver anything approaching a definitive judgement on a car's styling based on photographs, so perhaps it's better to park that question until we get to see a GT 86 in the metal – save to say that, from the snaps, it looks pretty enough if a little unadventurous.

Then again, if you're more concerned about show rather than go, perhaps you should be looking elsewhere.

The interior doesn't look as if it will be winning any awards for forward-thinking design, either, but then what did you expect? The slightly retro feel meshes perfectly with the personality of the car: make the driver feel good by putting the seats, major controls, switchgear and pedals in the right place, give it a sporty spin and don't worry too much about the frills.

In fact, apart from the cup holders in the centre console, forget them. We can raise a glass to that.

Market and Model

Expect prices to start from about £28,000 when the GT 86 goes on sale in the summer of 2012. The most obvious price rivals will be VW's Scirocco R, the Peugeot RCZ THP 200 GT and the MINI Cooper Coupe JCW. Specs and trims have yet to be finalised but it would be unrealistic to expect Lexus levels of standard kit.

Cost of Ownership

With strong demand and Toyota's (mostly) unblemished reputation for reliability, strong residual values are predicted for the GT 86 in anticipation that buyers will welcome its focus on core driving pleasures.

Decent economy and emissions are another strong suit with an estimated 40mpg and 160 g/km of CO₂ on offer.

Summary

That robust sales await the arrival of the GT 86 are virtually a cast iron certainty. For all the undoubted excellence of cars like the Volkswagen Scirocco, the affordable coupe market has probably been waiting for a car like the Toyota for too long.

But, in a way, that only makes its timing all the more astute. For drivers old enough to have been cutting their sporting teeth in the '80s, it's a slice of updated nostalgia. For younger would-be hot shoes, it will show them what they've been missing.

It may not be the fastest thing from A to B, but it was never meant to be. In the GT 86 the experience will be all about the journey, not the arriving.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
 That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
 A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Notice is hereby given in accordance with section 19(1) of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 that Essex County Council intends to make a prescribed alteration to Tany's Dell Community Primary School, Tany's Dell, Mowbar Road, Harlow, Essex, CM20 2LS from 01 September 2012.

The proposal is to enlarge the premises of Tany's Dell Primary School to increase its capacity from 210 places to 420 places on a phased basis, with effect from 1 September 2012.

The current capacity of the school is 210 and the proposed capacity will be 420.
The current number of pupils registered at the school is 225. The current admission number for the school is 30 and the proposed admission number will be 60.

This Notice is an extract from the complete proposal. Copies of the complete proposal can be obtained from the School Organisation Team at the address provided below, by telephoning 01245 436726 or by visiting http://tinyurl.com/EssexCC-StatProps

Within four weeks from the date of publication of these proposals, any person may admin.strategy@essex.gov.uk

Dave Hill, Executive Director for Schools, Children and Families, Essex County

Dated: 17 May 2012.

Explanatory Notes
The expansion of Tany's Dell Primary School would be delivered by using buildings on its site that were formerly occupied by a Pupil Referral Unit (which itself has temporarily relocated, pending a permanent move to a site in the south of Harlow).
These buildings would be subject to remodelling work, making them suitable for primary school use. The ECC capital budget makes provision for the remodelling of Tany's Dell Primary school.

GB success bodes well for Olympics

By ANDREW FRANCAZAK
at the Olympic Park, Stratford

GREAT Britain women's hockey star Chloe Rogers has put herself in a strong position to gain selection for the London Olympics – after helping steer her team to a clean sweep of victories in the Visa International Invitational tournament at the impressive Riverbank area in Stratford.

Harlow-born Rogers, 27, won her 152nd international cap as she took to the field for the showdown against arch-rivals Argentina – who they had beaten 2-0 in the tournament previously.

GB turned in a brilliant display to again win 2-0 in front of an 8,000-strong crowd in the final of the tournament at the Olympic Park, which is part of the London Prepares test event series.

Former Commonwealth games bronze medalist Rogers enjoyed plenty of time on the pitch, setting up a couple of goalscoring opportunities with some lovely stick skills.

Two brilliant strikes from Hannah Macleod put the Argentineans firmly on the back foot, with midfielder Rogers running her heart out to help secure an impressive shut-out.

Speaking to the Star moments after the celebrations at the final whistle Rogers, a former player at Bishop's Stortford Hockey Club, said: "It was a bit tentative in the first half, but in the second half we settled down and thought we're really going to go for it here and the two early goals helped us to do that.

"When you get a nice, comfortable lead it's easier to do your job.

"It was a steady match, you can always improve but we'll take the win.

"I got more into it in the second half, it was nice to get a lot of pitch time. We had a couple of injuries in the second half which meant people couldn't get back on.

"Argentina are a very good side but they're missing a couple of their best players so we're not getting too over excited.

"But it's good to win and keep the momentum going on our home pitch.

"It's been a good practice run for us for the Olympics, hopefully the pitch will even out a bit and not be so bouncy."

HOCKEY star Chloe Rogers sat out Great Britain's opening match against Korea, which they won 1-0, but collected her 150th cap in a 3-0 win over China during the London Prepares tournament ahead of the summer's Olympics.

Speaking after that game, Rogers told the Star: "It's an absolutely fantastic venue here and to get my 150th cap is fantastic.

"To have achieved it at a venue like this – a home pitch and Olympic venue, it's been a great day for me and for the whole team as well.

"I was pleased with the way I played today. I was involved on the ball a lot and playing well.

"I felt I had some good runs, it will be nice to keep the momentum going throughout the whole tournament."

International hockey employs rolling substitutions, and Rogers – born in Harlow – seemed to be on and off the pitch at regular intervals during the game.

"I don't find it [rolling subs] a problem," she said. "We've done it for years and years.

"We were in Argentina in February [for the Champions Trophy where GB lost in the final 1-0 to the hosts] when it was extremely hot so we had to do a lot of substitutions.

"It's not something you do at club level, but you do internationally. It's something you get used to."

Rogers had huge support over the week.

"I've had lots of people from back home come down to watch this week and had lots of messages of support on Twitter and Facebook – everywhere you name it, it has been absolutely fantastic.

"Hopefully that will keep going throughout the summer."

Rogers was the top goalscorer for her country at the 2006 World Cup. In 2008 she played a key role in Great Britain's march to sixth place at the Olympic Games in Beijing.

Rogers added that the tournament was a gruelling affair, but something she was well used to.

"It's a lot of minutes, the end of a long, hard week with four matches," she said. "It's a tough grind, but that's what tournament hockey is all about – and so is the Olympics.

"We've got a fantastic team spirit at the moment, everyone gets on very well and we want to keep the winning going and enjoy playing for each other."

Watts seals county champs success

A FANTASTIC finish from Harlow-born sprinter Sam Watts, above, earned him a gold medal in the 100m at the Essex County Championships.

The 20-year-old won the 100m senior men's race at Chelmsford in 10.53 seconds.

In winning, Watts overhauled Emmanuel Stephens (Newham & Essex Beagles) in the last stride of Saturday's race.

Stephens was second in 10.54s.

Watts said: "I was about two metres behind him at the 30 metre stage but he goes for a really explosive start.

"I did not start very well but knew I could catch him. He uses up a lot of energy in the first 30 metres."

Watts trains with former Great Britain athlete Gladys Bird, but more recently has been doing specialist work once a week at the Lee Valley Athletic Centre in Picketts Lock, North London.

This has included work on weights and practising coming out of the starting blocks.

He has worked with coach Stuart McMillan and has been training with the likes of Great Britain elite sprinters Dwain Chambers and Christian Malcolm.

"When I train I normally can relax subconsciously, but when I train with them I know I have to be 100 per cent. If I am not I will be embarrassed," he said.

"I have been working on a new technique out of the blocks which is less explosive."

Watts was representing Woodford Green AC at the Essex County Championships. Last year he won the men's U-20 100m at this event in the slightly faster time of 10.52s.

He will compete in the prestigious Loughborough International meeting this weekend.

Watts became the fastest-ever 200m runner at the London venue to be used by athletes at the Olympic Games this summer – after securing victory in a test event at the Stratford complex.

He clocked 20.16 seconds at the multi-million state-of-the-art venue, beating second-placed Julian Thomas (Birmingham University).

Team spirit the key to 2012 capital gains

CHLOE Rogers believes the team spirit in the Great Britain women's hockey team will help the side shine at the Olympic in London this summer.

The Harlow-born GB hockey player told the Star: "It's a very close-knit team. I think that comes from training day in, day out together every day.

"A lot of us play club hockey together and play against each other as well. There's good banter within the team and even those who haven't been picked are watching every game and supporting us all the way."

As for her possible Olympic selection – the GB Olympic team announcement is tomorrow (May 18) – Rogers does not want to get too confident.

"I've just got to keep trying and keep training and see where it gets me. You never know, it's tight but I hope to get in it. It will be close – it's a tense situation for the whole squad, but we've just got to deal with it."

For Rogers, the reality of playing in another Olympics is just beginning to set in. "I was in the England under-21 squad when it was announced we'd won the bid. Our manager at the time said 'it will be your generation, your Olympics'.

"Now I'm actually here and involved in all the build-up too.

"It's nice to have all the venues so close together in the Park. It's great for the spectators to be able to see everything together.

"It should be a fantastic Olympics."

Rogers also paid tribute to the fans who turned out in force to cheer the GB team on.

"The atmosphere at this event has been absolutely fantastic," she said.

"The crowd has been stupendous every day, they've been out there queuing in the cold, rain and wind to get in but they've stuck it out – it's not too bad for us at least we're running around.

"They've cheered us on – so thank you to everyone that's turned up."

She hoped their success would help raise the profile of hockey in this country, as it had done in previous Olympics.

"Both the teams are doing well and getting a lot of publicity – it's not a competition between the men and women.

"We just want to get the profile of hockey raised. It's played by so many people in this country and we just want to get them enjoying it and watching it whatever it may be."

Two trophies for top season

ALEMITE Athletic completed a memorable debut season in the Harlow & District League by lifting the Centenary Trophy on Friday.

The team, who play home matches at the Paringdon Sports Club, triumphed 2-0 against Waltham Abbey A.

Substitute Anthony James fired in the opener following a goalmouth scramble just minutes after coming on.

The second goal was scored by Kerry Walton, who rifled in after a neat square pass from James on 80 minutes.

Alemite had already captured the Essex Saturday Junior Cup.

They missed out on the treble when they were beaten to the premier division title by Bengo Trinity.

Boss Peter Lucia said: "It was disappointing in the league to be runners-up. We dropped some silly points and that cost us. But it's been a very good season."

Lucia also paid tribute to reserve team boss Gerrard Smith, pictured above, who is stepping down after 22 years at the club.

He has coached the reserves for the last four seasons.

"I would just like to thank Gerrard on behalf of everybody past and present for the great work he has done as a player and as a manager," said Lucia.

Champions defeated

IT was a case of after the Lord Mayor's show for Harlow & District League premier division champions Rouge Lyon as they lost 3-1 at Marquis Sports in their penultimate game.

Rouge clinched the title with a win over second-placed Maypole Athletic the previous week.

They are two points clear of their rivals but still have a game to play.

EKB reserves closed in on the division four title with a 6-1 home win over Harlow Police.

Other results: Div one: Maiden 8, New Tr Rangers 2; Mark Hall 2, Maypole Ath res 6.

Sheering seal place in final

SHEERING progressed to the President's Trophy final after a 4-1 last four defeat of Avondale Rangers.

They will meet unbeaten premier division champions North Weald in the final.

Weald also won 4-1 in their semi-final against Frontiers.

Tom Ivory replied. Other result: div one: Sheering res 3 (Sam Lacey, Daniel Rappe, Joe Baker), North Weald res 3 (Peter Knight, Dean Fitch, Billy Leadley).

Heartbreak as Alemite miss out on league and cup double ALEMITE Youth U-11 were unable to complete the double as they lost 1-0 to Epping Youth.

Alemite had already won the West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League U-11 title, but were thwarted in Sunday's final at Harlow Town Football Club

Summers' time!

Vipers victorious in Secretaries Cup final at Barrows Farm

Summers Vipers U-10 4, Epping Saracens U-10 0

West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League Secretaries Cup (U-10s)

TWO goals in either half completed a convincing victory for Summers Vipers U-10s to lift the Secretaries Cup at Harlow Town FC on Sunday.

The game burst into life when Vipers defender Jake Legallienne struck the crossbar from a free-kick just a couple of minutes after kick-off.

The first 15 minutes was dominated by the Harlow team, but the combination of good goalkeeping from Epping stopper Thomas Allen and some off target finishing kept the score goalless.

The breakthrough finally came when Vipers right-sided midfielder Alex Walter produced a long-range speculative shot which deflected into the net past the luckless Epping custodian.

As half-time approached, Vipers left-sided midfielder Charlie Barclay produced a first class strike which flew into the top right corner.

Epping continued to work hard in the second half and at one point their striker was through on goal but was denied by a superb last-ditch tackle in the box from Legallienne.

CUP JOY: The Summers Vipers U-10 side with their trophy at Harlow Town FC on Sunday (s)

Legallienne then turned provider at the other end of the pitch as his pin-point cross was superbly headed in by Vipers striker Ben Willis.

Vipers substitute Kane Waterfield added a clinical fourth right at the death, slotting low into the bottom left corner as he overcame an injury to put the icing on the cake.

The final whistle sparked huge celebrations from the Vipers players as they celebrated their first piece of silverware in the four years the team has been playing together.

Alex Walter was voted player of the match by teenage referee Reece Brown, who also had an excellent game and kept the game flowing well.

SUMMERS VIPERS U-10 (squad): Euan Reynolds, Josh Scott, Jake Legallienne, Dan Wood, Charlie Barclay, Alex Walter, Ben Willis, Erjon Joshari. EPPING SARACENS U-10: Thomas Allen, Matthew Winter, Harrison Coomber, Jake Adigu, Tyler Kemp, George Campbell, Louis Lodge, Albert Unstead, Harry Willsher, Daniel Booker, Jack Jocham.

Tough being a youth team coach

WHO would be the coach of a youth football team?

With all the stress and tension, it's certainly not a role for the faint-hearted.

Apart from my job as Sports Editor of the Star, I can be found on most Sunday mornings at venues across Harlow and beyond coaching my Summers Vipers Under-10s who play in the West Essex & East Herts Youth League, or the Harlow Recreational League in 'old money'.

So having endured four years of struggle at the wrong end of the table, it was with great pride and anticipation that I took my team to Harlow Town Football Club last Sunday morning for the team's first ever cup final - this year's U-10 Secretaries Cup.

Now to describe me, I like to use the word 'coach' in the loosest sense of the term - I'm really part of the 'Dads' Army'. Don't get me wrong, there are many coaches of youth teams in Harlow and beyond who know their onions and have got FA qualifications - but there are also probably a fair number who are, like me, thrown into it because their son plays for the team.

The respect I have for these coaches - out every Sunday come rain, sleet or snow - has grown over these last few years.

Although I relish it, it's pretty tough sometimes, particularly as we have not had a goalkeeper for most of this time. A keeper, a keeper, my kingdom for a keeper.

The ingredients of some Sundays can consist of "I'm not going in goal", "I want to play in midfield - I'm not going in defence", "why did you take me off", "why don't you take so and so off - he's playing rubbish".

A few think they know more about football management than me and Jose Mourinho - sadly they're probably right! Well, maybe not Mourinho.

I've been treading water as a coach for the last few years - my idea of tactics come via Sky Sports and Gary Neville et al. So I can tell you it meant a great deal to me to lead a side into a cup final - something I never got the opportunity to do as a player.

In the dressing room prior to our final against Epping Saracens, the West Essex & East Herts Youth League chairman John Howlett came in to give the boys a few words of encouragement.

He finished by saying 'afterwards thank your coaches who give their time on Sundays up voluntarily for you'. I felt 10ft tall after that little speech.

And so to the match and it was a typical Sunday for me. I get far too stressed out for this lark - it's only kids' football.

Not it's not. It's far more important than that!

After a tense first 15 minutes we scored and this calmed the nerves (mine, not the players!).

Fifty minutes later and we had won. What a thrill as our captain Jake Legallienne lifted the cup. The smiles on the faces of my players said it all and will live long in the memory.

Who would be the coach of a youth football team? I certainly would!

Town's great start in new league

Harlow Tn 190-7, Hutton 86

Harlow Tn won by 104 runs

Shepherd Neame Essex League, division three

AN excellent start to their Shepherd Neame Essex League division three campaign was made by Harlow Town's first team with a thumping home win over Hutton.

The Ash Tree Field club switched from the Herts & Essex League at the end of last season.

Town lost the toss on Saturday and were put into to bat on a damp, but drying wicket.

The hosts made a solid start with Shiraz Ali and Pat Yates putting on 45 for the first wicket before the former was run out for 10.

Yates then went on to make 44 and added 44 for the second wicket with Ramya Upadhyay (29) before a flurry of wickets mid-innings threatened to derail the hosts.

However, Ashley Alderson pushed up the total with a typically brisk knock of 40 as Town played out their 50 overs to score 190 for 6.

Harlow Town skipper Danny Calver said: "We were quite happy to get what we did as we scored only eight fours. We had wickets in hand at the end to push up our score and we were happy with the total [because of the conditions]."

In reply, Hutton were under immediate pressure with new ball bowlers Alderson (1-9) and Calver (2-9) taking early wickets as the visitors slipped to 13-3.

Hutton were unable to get on top of the run rate with tight bowling throughout and never looked like pulling the game away from Town.

Bowlers Ron Yates (2-21) and Upadhyay (3-11) put the finishing touches to a perfect opening victory as Hutton collapsed to 86 all out.

Calver added: "We bowled really well and really straight. They were struggling after taking three early wickets."

"They have come down from division two and we were expecting it to be tougher. They crumbled a bit."

Harlow's match at Loughton in division one of the Shepherd Neame Essex League was abandoned because of the bad weather.

Admiral clinch Team KO cup

WHITE Admiral won the Harlow & District Premier Darts League Team KO trophy by beating The Crusader 2-0 in the final of the knock-out eights competition.

League runners-up Admiral beat Sawbridgeworth Brewery 2-0 in the first round before overcoming champions Servo Link 2-1 in round two.

In the semi-final, they defeated Tye Green Whites 2-0.

Crusader had a bye in round one and beat Moot House Raiders 2-1 in round two and Buccaneers 2-1 in their semi-final.

Chiassaro said: "It was not as quick as we thought it was going to be, but it's a good track. The stadium was really good and it was the biggest crowd [8,000] I have raced in front of."

"I was really happy with my performance."

'And for our honeymoon we completed a marathon!'

ENTHUSIASTIC Harlow runners David and Katie Ayling tied the knot but instead of heading off for their honeymoon they completed a marathon the next day!

The couple finished in 362nd place in 4:19.47 at the Halstead and Essex Championships Marathon – the day after they were married!

The Harlow Running Club pair were joined by David's best man Steve Ambrose (139th, 3:41.44).

David's father Peter Ayling, from Joslins in Harlow, said: "David and Katie have done many marathons but I was surprised they did one the day after they got married!"

The couple have remained members of the Mark Hall Sportcentre-based club despite moving to Reading, Berkshire. They have now gone to Cornwall for their 'proper' honeymoon.

Club-mate Jared Bethell also competed at Halstead. He gained a bronze medal in his third marathon in four weeks.

including one of 7.97m in the shot put.

This moved him up two places in the UK rankings from 7th to 5th in his category (F37). He also threw three consecutive PBs in the discus, which included one of 27.48m and is now ranked 4th in the UK.

Other Harlow results: Tyler Bown 5th in the junior men's 400m 53.00s; Jodi Ratcliff 8th U-15 girls 800m 2:35.8.

Kneesy does it for club captain

GEORGE Edmonston defied medical advice to make his drive-in to launch his year as the new captain at Canons Brook Golf Club in Harlow.

The 67 year-old teed off with a 189-yard drive just a few weeks after he had two new knee caps fitted!

Edmonston, right, who has a handicap of 18, did not play at all in the stableford competition involving 102 players and won by Dean Hollyoake.

Edmonston, who lives in Churchgate Street, said: "I have a new set of knees. The hospital told me not to play for two months. I just stood there and swung through it."

Edmonston stepped into the captaincy role after last year's vice-captain Geoff Wright stood down for health reasons.

The new captain does not intend to go on the course until June at the earliest.

He said: "I have been playing for around 20 years [at the club] and I'm very pleased to be captain. There are great people involved (at the club). I hope to do a lot at the club."

Edmonston is a director of Essex Transmissions in Burnt Mill, Harlow which specialises in gearboxes and automatic transmissions.

The vice-captain is Brian Munro and he will take over as captain next April when the Elizabeth Way club marks its 50th anniversary.

Sides progress in golf competitions

CANONS Brook Golf Club have booked a spot in the last 16 of the Leslie F. Wood Championship.

The Harlow team will play at Chigwell-based Woolston Manor GC on June 10 after the former beat Romford 10.5 points to 4.5 in the second round on Sunday.

Earlier, Canons Brook defeated the Essex Golf & Country Club, based in Earls Colne, by the same margin in the first round.

The Elizabeth Way team will visit Stoke by Nayland GC away on May 27 in the second round of the Thornton Challenge Cup.

This was after Canons Brook beat Chelmsford-based team Channels 11-4 in the first round. Channels had beaten them in the same competition last year.

Huckle's longer wait

JAMES Huckle is facing a longer wait than expected to find out if he has been selected for the Great Britain Olympic shooting team.

The 21 year-old, from Old Harlow, was expected to hear on May 2 after he had competed in an Olympic London 2102 test event at the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich.

Huckle came 40th in the 10m air rifle category and 35th in the 50m three positions event (prone, standing and kneeling).

He is now set to hear if he has been selected on May 28.

Osagie's Diamond day in Doha!

GB star in red-hot form as Olympics approaches

ANDREW Osagie's dream of getting into medal contention in the 800m final at the London 2012 Olympic Games was given a huge lift after a brilliant performance in Doha.

The 24 year-old, from Northbrooks in Harlow, clocked a personal best time of 1 min, 44.64 secs when he came third in the 800m at the prestigious Samsung Diamond League meeting in Qatar on Friday.

His previous best time was 1:45.36. Harlow Athletic Club member Osagie finished 0.22 of a second ahead of Great Britain rival Michael Rimmer, who came sixth (1:44.86) in a race won by Kenyan David Rudisha (1:43.10).

By DAVID RIMMER

Osagie's race in Doha was his first of the outdoor season after he claimed a brilliant bronze medal at the World Indoor Championships in Istanbul in March.

The Harlow runner is looking forward to the summer. He told the Star: "Anything can happen. I always feel confident going into championships and I can concentrate well."

"There is definitely a chance of making the final there [in London]. It has become more real."

He added: "Barring injury or two other runners coming along, I am confident of getting into the team. Only myself and Michael Rimmer have come under the A standard of 1:45.6 [the qualifying time for the Olympics] in the last year or so.

"It's hard to see two others coming along before the end of June and even if they met the time they have to go some way underneath it to impress the selectors."

His third spot in Doha came after a superb finish. He was seventh with around 100m to go and then jumped four spots, timing his final burst to perfection.

Osagie said: "It was very good for the first race of the season and also to cut my personal best (PB) down by seconds [at the World Indoors in Istanbul]. That was a big thing for me and put my name out there."

OLYMPICS HERE WE COME: Andrew Osagie

Osagie is not too concerned about beating close rival Rimmer, but is encouraged by how his training is going.

Republic on May 25.

He is also grateful and mindful of the support from his home town.

"I would like to thank everyone for their support in Harlow. If people enjoy athletics in Harlow they should go along and have a try at it."

Chiassaro in form ahead of World Cup

RICHARD Chiassaro feels very confident about his prospects for the BT Paralympic World Cup in Manchester next week.

The Harlow athlete is going into the event on the back of some brilliant performances at the British Wheelchair Racing Association (BWRA) national track championships at Stoke Mandeville.

He came first in both the 100m (14.67 seconds) and 200m (26.15s) and grabbed a second in the 400m (50.43s) at the event in Buckinghamshire.

Chiassaro's times in the 100m and 200m were personal bests, beating 15.07s and 26.56s respectively.

The 30-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member said: "I'm feeling quite good for it and am in good form. I am only doing the 100 metres. I am number five in the world for the 100m so I feel confident."

"I was really happy with my time of 14.67s [at Stoke Mandeville] as it was against a headwind. That is only 0.01s behind David Weir [who won two golds at the Paralympics in Beijing in 2008], who has the all-time record of 14.66."

Meanwhile, Harlow athlete Anne Wafula Strike is also in red-hot form as she prepares for the BT Paralympic World Cup. She came third in the 100m in 18.12s, second in the 200m in 31.16s and 7th in a 400m race in 1:04.37 at the BWRA Champs.

Strike and Chiassaro both got top three spots in a Paralympic Test event at the Olympic Stadium in Stratford, East London.

Strike came second in a woman's 100m race in 18.45s, while Chiassaro was third in a men's 100m race in 14.83s.

The pair also came fifth in the 400m with Chiassaro

Judo medal duo wait for 2012 OK

PETER Cousins and Faith Pitman face an anxious wait before they find out if they have been selected for the Great Britain judo team for the London 2012 Olympics.

The pair, from Hookfield in Harlow, put themselves in prime position by gaining a gold and silver between them at the British Open - featuring a world-class field. British Judo chiefs announce their team for the Olympics on June 16.

Cousins (31), pictured right, who competed in the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, took the gold in the men's 100kg section at the prestigious British Open at Crawley in West Sussex last weekend.

This was after he won five contests, culminating in his victory over Tomasz Domanski in the final.

Former Passmores School student Cousins beat Dutch opponent Tobins Mal in the semi-final.

His earlier victories included one over main British rival James Austin, from the Midlands, in the third round.

Cousins beat Dutch fighter Remco van den Brink in the first round and Spain's Marc Fortuny in the second round.

Cousins said: "That was a lot of fun. It'll be my last British Open. I was just focused on taking it one fight at a time and giving it my all."

His twin brother Thomas Cousins has worked with Peter for many years and was proud of him.

Thomas said: "He started a bit nervously and slowly. There was a pressure on him to perform. "But after that he picked it up and after the third fight [against Austin] he was really flying."

Meanwhile, 26-year-old Pitman needed a win, but ended with silver.

She won four U-63kg contests before she lost to Great Britain rival Gemma Howell in the final.

Thomas, Pitman's partner, said: "She put in the best performances up until the final but then she did not perform like she had done."

"Howell is a bit of a bogey fighter for Faith."
